Foreword

This is West Charlotte—where students gather to gain knowledge—where each June brings about the graduation of hundreds of young people—where young people have the same basic desires as young people the world over.
This is West Charlotte and each page is mute evidence of "The Lion's Beat."

Remember Chief?

'Tho Time Goes . . .

When old friends meet, there's lots of fun.

New Faculty Faces—1965

Who's hurrying?

Snow gave us a holiday.

These Cherished Scenes Will Remain

Again, girls! This time get it right.

Chester Bland—forlorn and tired—has played his last season wearing No. 86. Maybe, he'll get that number in college.

And so, another day ends.

Exam time sent us to the library.

A Quick Glance At Student Life

Somebody was off, hey!

He's trying hard!

Step lively, fellows!

Waiting for the whistle?

Lunch time and the lines file in and out of the cafeteria.

At West Charlotte

Robert Wallace explains some modern art in Humanities I

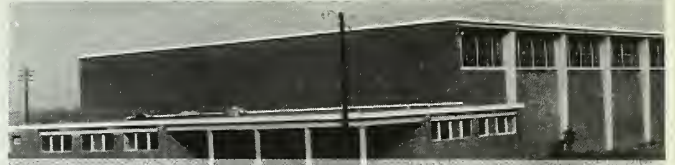

Clarence Montgomery makes the "shot of the year"—

Dedication

Many people have dreams, but few are able to execute them. Many people have goals, but few are able to pursue them with the energy, integrity and dignity that Miss Reid has shown. For her zeal, her enthusiasm, her determination and her hard work, this 1965 edition of The Lion is sincerely dedicated.

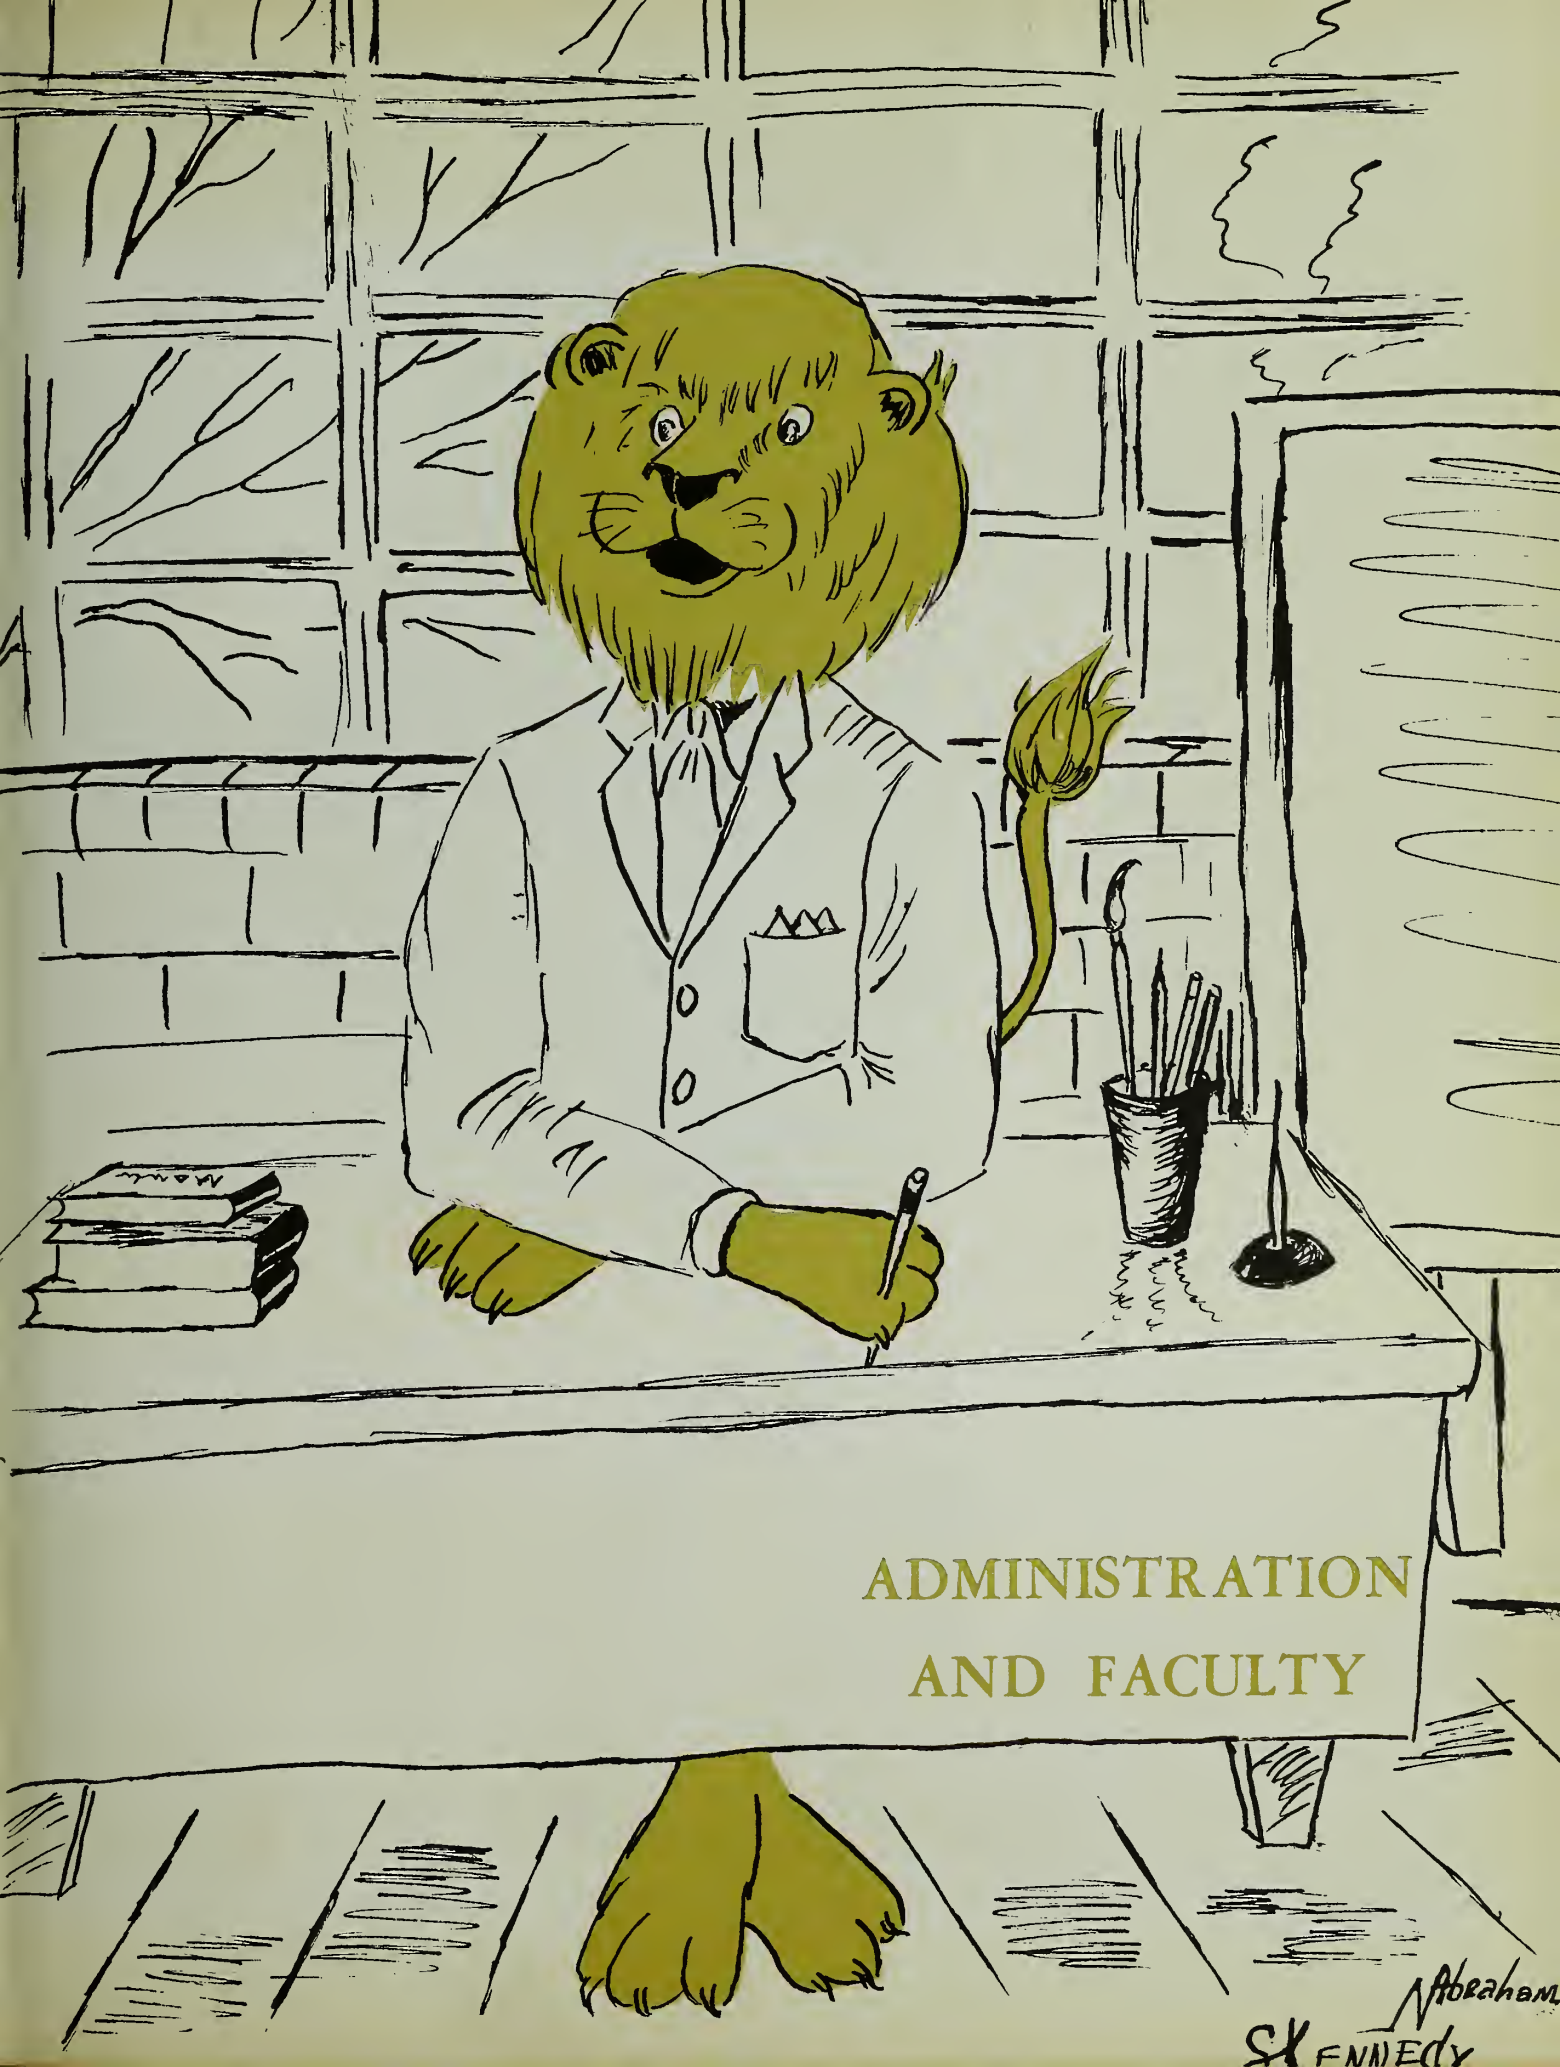

MISS HORTENSE N. REID

Relaxing at home, listening to good music.

Always striving for perfection.

ACTIVITIES

The West Charlotte

The West Charlotte Band is very proud of its marching performances. Participating in the fun and pageantry of football season, the band climaxes much of its hard work at the Queen City Classic. Eagerly the crowd awaits the appearance of these prestidigitators at every game and in all local parades.

Flanked on the right and left by the Jones Twins (Peggy, left; Patty, right), Patricia Jones (no relation), Marva Carr and Janis Mitchell proudly announce the approach of the W.C. Band.

Music hath

Mr. Holloway shows Vicille Wallace, Louise Moore and Inez Howey the techniques of using the bow properly.

For five consecutive years, the West Charlotte Orchestra has received superior ratings at the annual state music festivals.

The Choral Ensemble—First row: Olyneitha Mitchell, Eva White, Marcus Anderson, Richard Taylor, Ivan Davis, Shalia Johnson, Mary Williamson. Second row: Janis Mitchell, Phyllis Hardin, Valeria McAdams, Willie Green, Rafe Pride, Gwendolyn Washington, Lillian Campbell. Third row: Deborah Kirkpatrick, Ruth Sloan, Larry Anderson, James Dean, Barbara Walker and Yvette Roberts.

The West Charlotte Mixed Chorus

Music groups are given opportunities for full expression of their art

The Girls Glee Club. Miss Hortense Reid is director and Sandra Davis is accompanist.

The Boys' Glee Club. Ivan Davis is the accompanist; Miss Reid, director.

Marion Laney leads the music appreciation class in a discussion of the fugue.

Piano students are learning the correct finger position.

A strong physical fitness program is a must at W.C.

Girls' physical education class in gymnastic exercises on a beautiful, warm day.

A game of soccer in the stadium. Girls enjoy this sport.

Frontis Gilliam and Annette Johnson are experiencing rebounding in volley ball.

Boys' Physical Education Classes

Boys on a parallel bar.

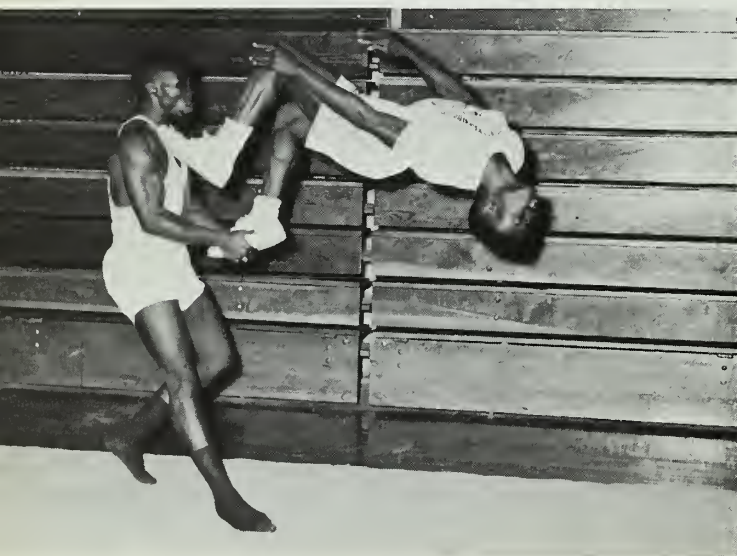

Cleveland Jones and Roland Sams execute a "sit-up" exercise.

The "hand stand" is shown by these boys in a typical daily activity of their classes.

Cleveland Jones—in a backward flip.

Outdoor exercise—boys learn techniques of blocking.

Modern Dance Classes

The Modern Dance Group is composed of juniors and seniors who exhibit poise, talent and grace in their dancing techniques.

Modern Dance I—a class for beginning dance students.

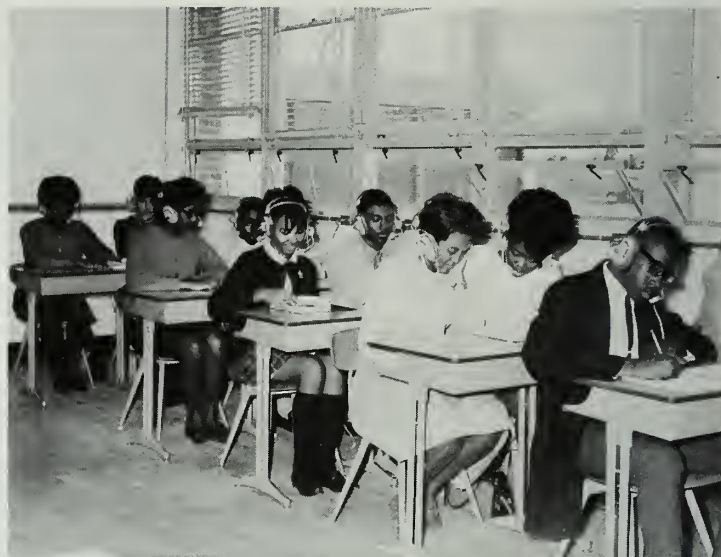

Advanced Dance Group

Languages are beacons of communications

Spanish II listen to pronunciation drills in the language lab.

French II class studies dialogues. Mr. Ellis is the instructor.

In Spanish II, students learn to appreciate and understand the customs of Spain and Latin America. A Mexican dance is in progress in this picture.

Classes in the Social Sciences

Sula Henderson leads the discussion in her sociology class. Fatina Norman, Sharon Brewington, Ann Scott, and Berlyn Reeves appear eager to add to the discussion.

Psychology students study the evolution theory. Mrs. Griffin, standing, gives individual aid to some of her students.

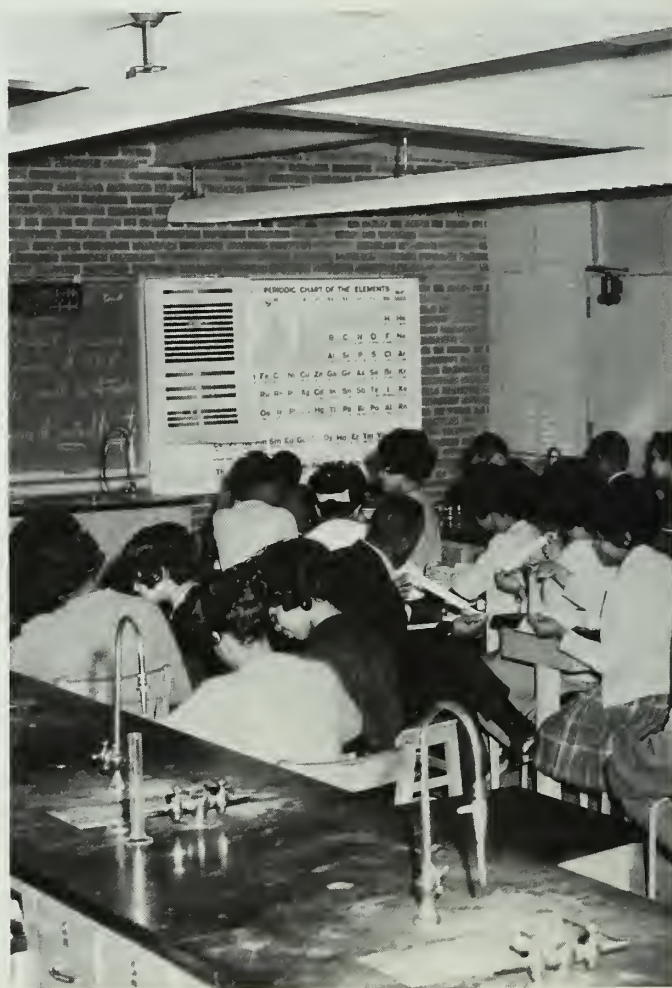

Man has always searched for his personal freedom. In the humanities class, students study this area in literature, art and music. Kenneth Powell leads the class discussion.

Chemistry laboratory session—students are preparing a solution of potassium chloride.

Science promotes research

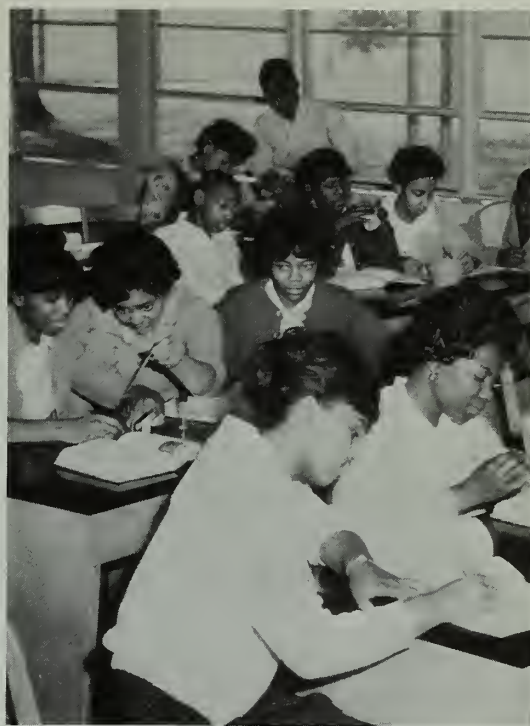

Experiments in a physics class teach the fundamental theories. Howard Counts has the interest of the group as he demonstrates the experiment.

Library assistants—Joyce Hicks and Samuel Brown study the over-head projector; Mattie Johnson, Jerry Minter and Frances Flax study the film projector while James Thompson, Deborah Davis and Julia Rogers learn to operate the 16mm Bell & Howell projector.

Assistants are helpers, but they learn by doing.

Guidance Clerical Assistants

These assistants provide ample help for the school secretaries while gaining the "know-how" of filing, using the telephone, intercom and typing.

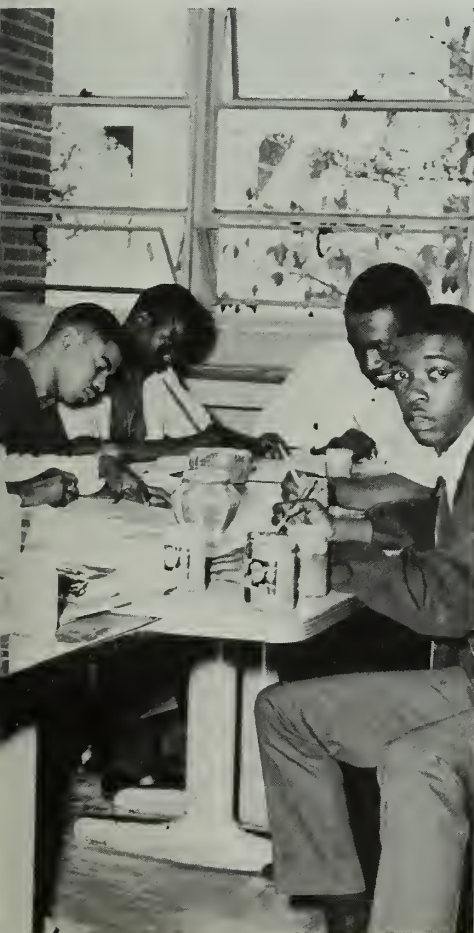

Cassandra Williams, Deanna Stewart, Jean Easterling, Yvette Roberts, Terry Simmons and Beverly Blakeney are assistants in the Guidance Offices.

Jewelry class learns to make beautiful jewelry from simple metals.

Hairstyling — an important phase of cosmetology

Manicuring — Norma Huntley and Joyce Rice

Tailoring and Commercial Dietetics

These students in tailoring are basting, pressing, fitting and cutting.

Mr. Dunham explains the intricacies of fitting lapels perfectly.

These important courses are indices to successful living after high school graduation. Many students do advanced work in these areas; others serve an apprenticeship then go on to make their livelihood.

Commercial Dietetics I and II. Mr. Scott is the instructor.

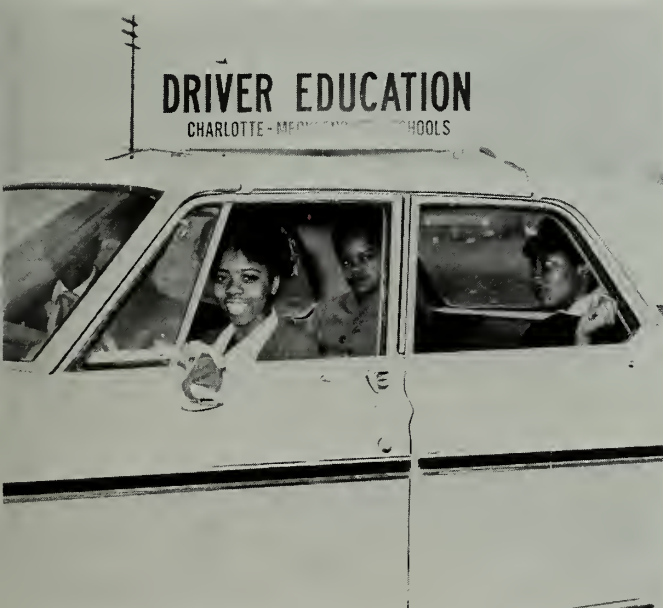

Class in Commercial Dietetics is getting ready for a school banquet. Cooking in large quantities is their specialty.

Safe and sane driving is their motto

Actual on-the-road driving is undertaken only after a student has passed successfully the theoretical aspects of driving. Vermell Polk seems anxious to take her road test. Mr. Wilson is the instructor.

"The life you save may be your own."

These students are beginning their first road test.

Shalia Johnson, Bernadette Strickland and Rosa Straite are confident students of Mr. Johnson.

An informed public

The Fourth Estate

The newspaper staff grows out of Journalism I. These students have the difficult task of preparing six issues of the school paper each year. Many of these students have had no previous experience in journalism and find the task somewhat more difficult but somehow they seem to "almost" reach their quota.

The Mirror—school newspaper—is headed by Bette Jo Taylor and Vicille Wallace as editor and associate editor.

The combined staff of the school paper is an educated public

Both the paper and the yearbook are members of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Both publications are judged annually. These criteria help us to improve our publications.

Kenneth Powell and Ann Pressley are editor and co-editor of the Lion Staff. Here they show other staff members the techniques of make-up.

and the yearbook busily engaged in layout

Home Economics

These students are engaged in several household "musts"—preparing food, measuring ingredients and washing dishes after a successful activity.

Classes in both food and clothing are held daily at West Charlotte. Students in foods assist with preparation of foods for special activities. Students in clothing classes make their own garments and proudly show them off in an annual fashion show.

Gail Saunders, Cheryl Oliver, Barbara Brooks, Beverly Belton and Dorothy Hallums studying for their next class activity.

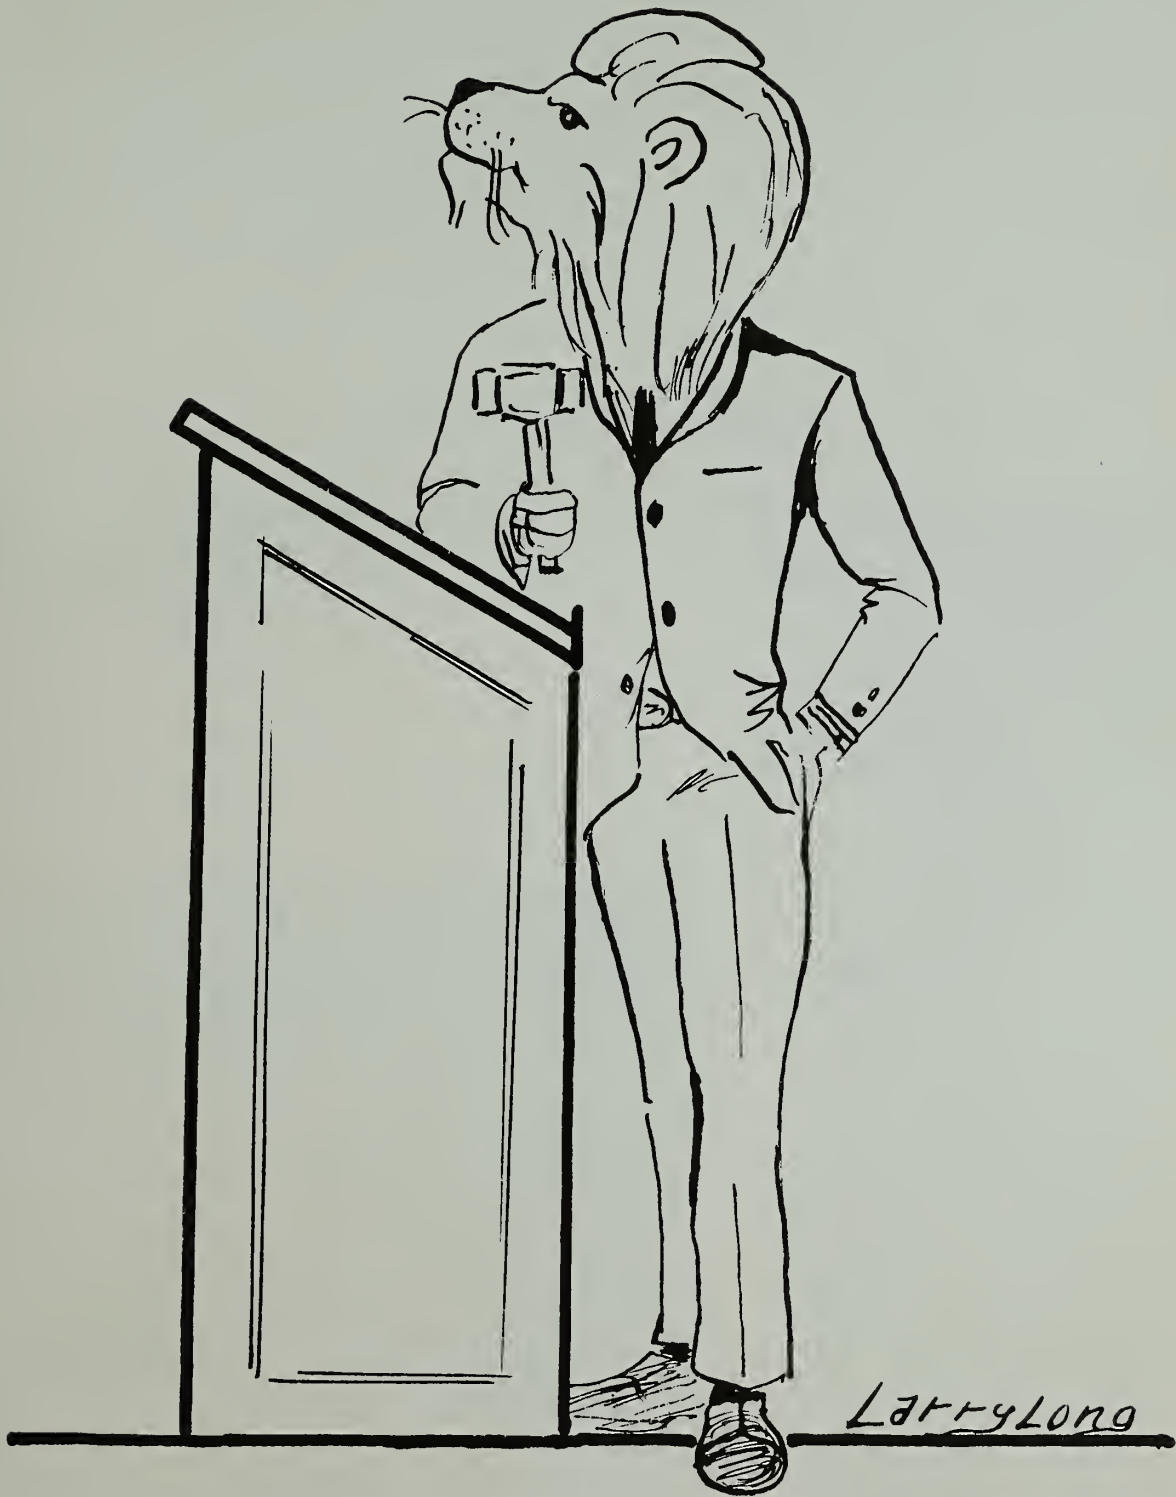

Students remove "ready to eat" casserole from oven.

Students receive instruction on how to handle domestic emergencies in their Home Nursing Class.

ORGANIZATIONS

Homeroom representatives form the governmental body of the Student Council. Each homeroom is entitled to one representative and one alternate. Clubs have the same privilege.

Student Council

Cluster Byars, President

The West Charlotte Student Council is an affiliate of the North Carolina Association of Student Councils and the National Association of Student Councils. Our council is credited with the honor of organizing the state association.

Future Teachers of America—The F.T.A. strives to stimulate perpetual interest of students who plan to make teaching a career. Shown above are the members of this organization. In the usual order are: Cecil Ivory, Jacquelyn Brown, Bette Jo Taylor, Mary Humphrey, Larry Frazier. Standing, Marva Carr, Iris Neal, Betty Durant-Anderson, Brenda Simmons, Yvette Roberts, Wandra McKee, Kelly Alexander, Phyllis Hardin, Iris Jones, Zelma Gaines, Gloria Byers, Gwendolyn Wilson, Melvin Holloway, Patricia Williams, Carolyn Campbell, Carol Pride, Vivian Ross, Verdair Wingate, and Norma Leak.

Clubs . . .

New Homemakers of America—Emphasis on improved homelife is the goal of this group.

Sigma Phi Sigma Science Club was organized in 1955 to encourage students to seek a broader knowledge of the world about them.

Essential to School Life

Junior Red Cross is an affiliate of the American Red Cross and each year the group promotes many charitable activities. Some of the activities include giving baskets of food to needy families, visiting rest homes and sanitariums, "strapping bottles" at the Red Cross Chapter House.

Through Clubs Students Find Relaxation

Photography—teaches students the fundamental skills and techniques of taking and developing pictures.

Bible—This is a new course at West Charlotte. There are three classes daily and each class enjoys the Bible from a literary and allegorical point of view.

Need a Guide? They will serve!

Vocational Club

Host and Hostess Club—These bright and energetic students serve as guides to visitors and as ushers or hostesses for school and school-sponsored programs.

The West Charlotte Thespians

This award-winning group presents two three-act plays and three one-act plays during the school year. In addition, the director and many members of the organization are responsible for the production of the senior class play usually given in April. These scenes are taken from two of their most recent productions: "The Old Man's Money" and "The Limbo Tree."

"All the world's a stage' . . ."

Jasper Campbell and Nathaniel Rorie as they appeared in "The Old Man's Money"

Melvin McCullough, the old man around whom the story revolves, Nathaniel Rorie, Doris Frazier, Bobbie Durante and Vivian Ross as they appeared in the three-act performance.

Doris Frazier, Nathaniel Rorie and Vivian Ross star in the same play.

D.E. Offers On-the Job Training

D.E. II—These students are advanced students in this area. Front row (l-r) Mr. Mitchel, adviser; Peggy Hart, Norman Grigg, Mr. Rorie, adviser. Second row: Thomas Quick, Harold Birtha, Nora Byers, Davine Strong, Evelyn Sturgis, Diane Moore, Gwendolyn Ford and Clarence Scott. Third row: James Fuller, Calvin Williams, James Crawford, Joe Ford, William Johnson, Tyrone Clark and Stepehn Walker. Fourth row: Lafayette Oliphant, MacArthur Hicklin, Charles Lewis, Daryll James and Bobby Jones.

D.E. I—This is a beginning class in Distributive Education. Many of these students have never really had an opportunity to earn their own money before.

Calvin Williams checks stock at Van Ness Company.

Courses in D.E. I and D.E. II form a basic part of the comprehensive high school curriculum.

Evelyn Sturgis at W.T. Grant & Co. with Mr. Wilkins, store manager.

Eunice Gary sales-clerk at W.T. Grant & Co.

Gwendolyn Ford checks supplies with Dr. Wakefield at Dalebrook Pharmacy.

Industrial Arts . . .

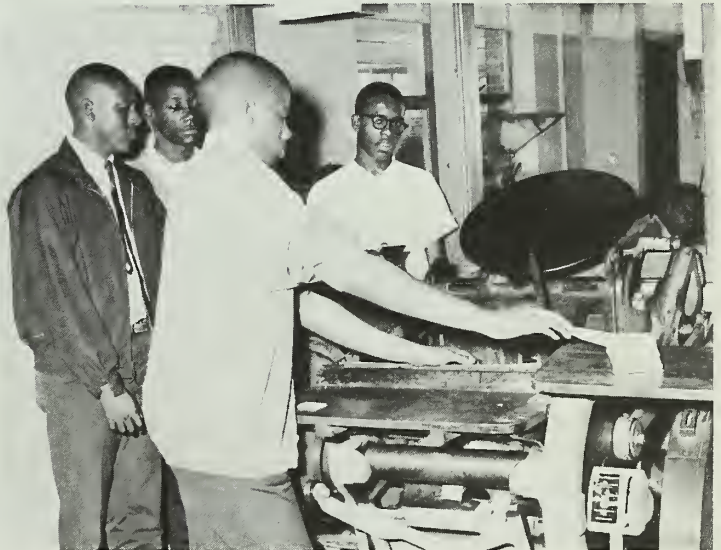

Mechanical Drawing

Each year students in the Industrial Arts Department make tables, desks, lamps and many other useful household items. An exhibit of these articles is sponsored each year by the department.

Howard Counts, Leonard Jones, John Rockymore, Larry Jones, Barry Withers, John Ervin Williams, Clarence Scott and Reginald Hairston are busily engaged in their drawing exercises.

Printing—Setting type for a school program are Kenneth Faulkner, James Boston, and George Frink in their Printing I class.

In these two pictures Clarence Nolley, Erskine Thornwell, Anthony Davis, Carl Johnson, Robert Brooks and Woodrow Chappell are putting finishing touches on their projects.

Club Affiliates of Community Organizations

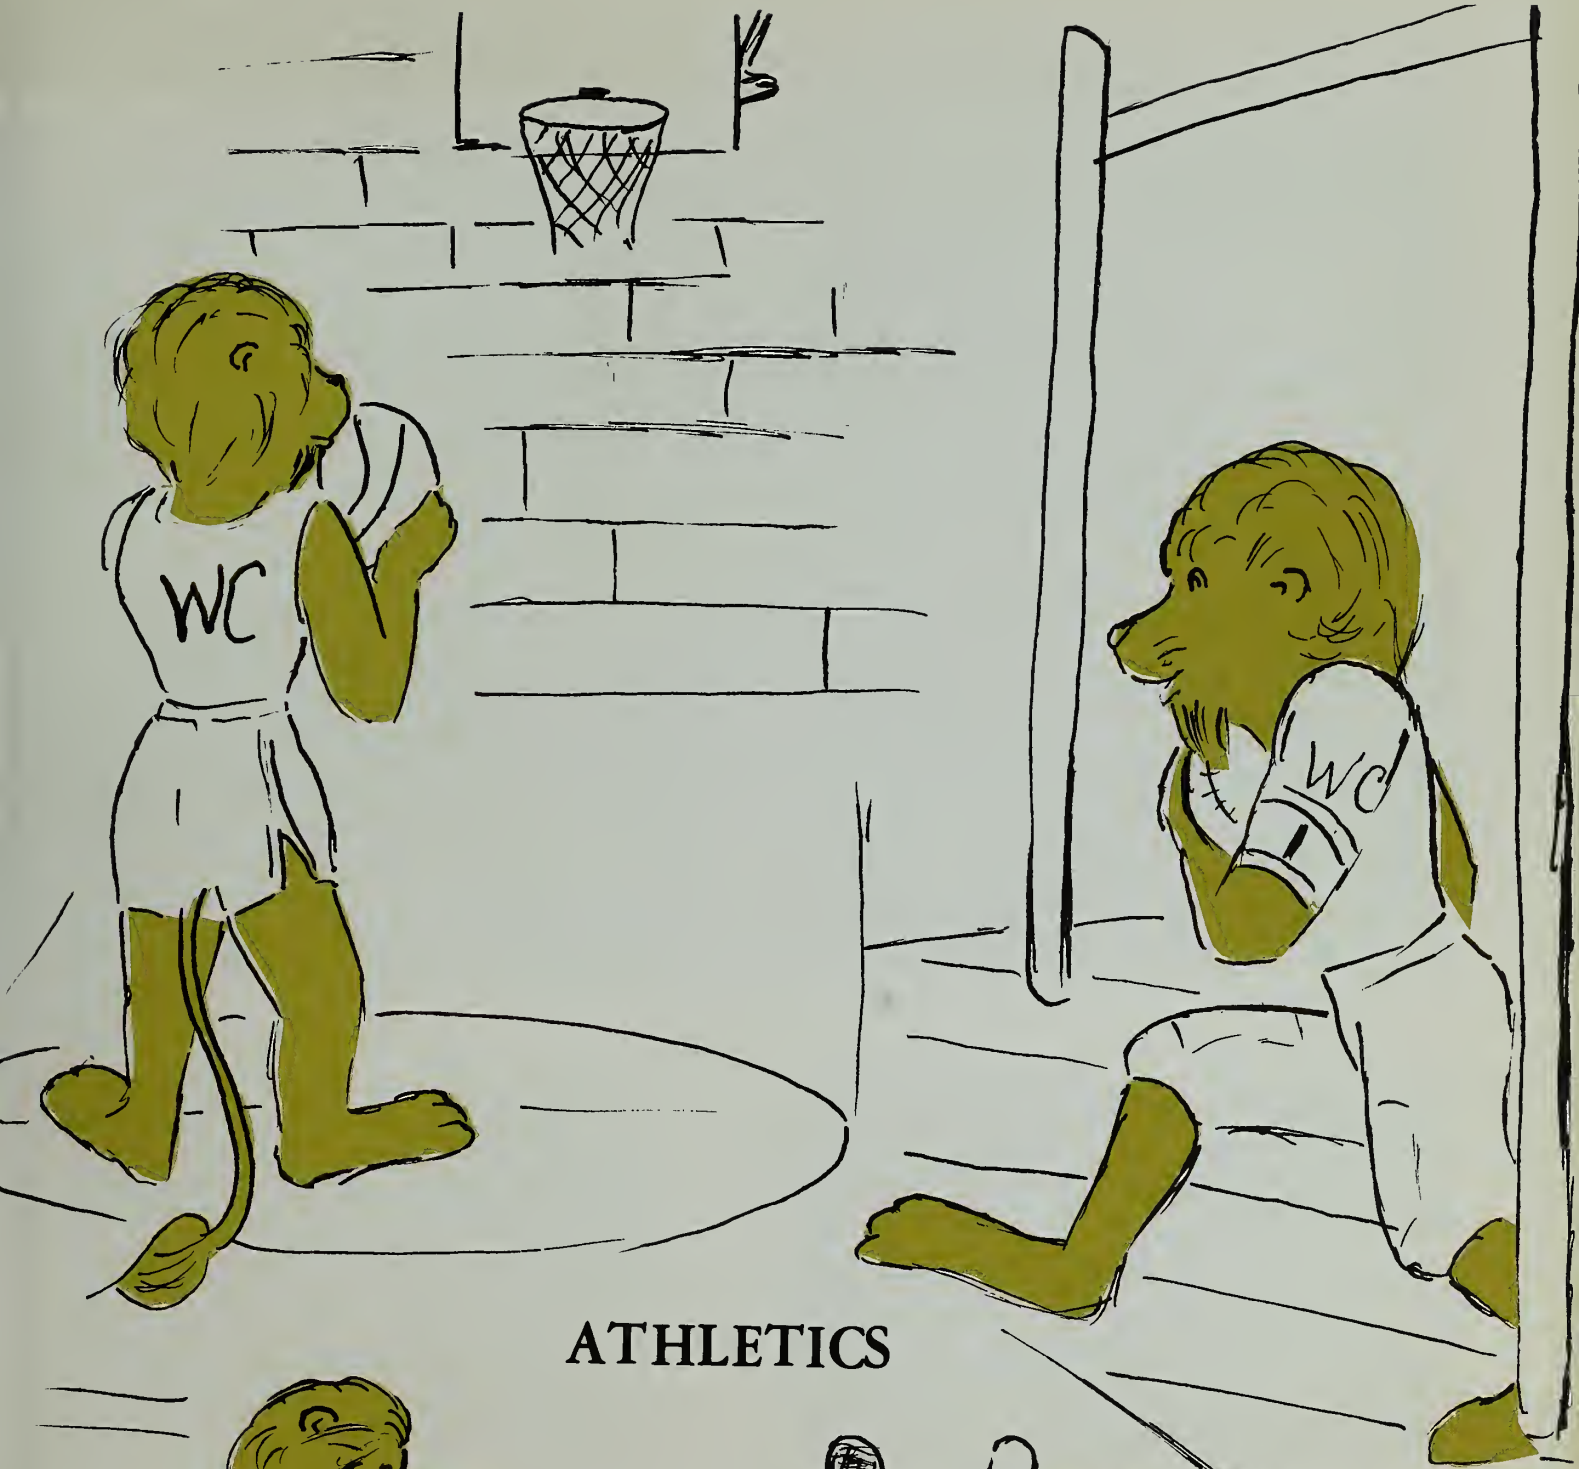

Hi-Y—The Hi-Y is sponsored by the YMCA and stresses manliness and brotherhood.

NCCJ—This group is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews and has as its motto "Brotherhood Believe it, Support it."

Y Teens is an affiliate of the YWCA and it strives to build finer womanhood.
